The Hickey Multisensory Language Course

by Margaret Combley

The Hickey multisensory language course by Hickey, Kathleen. The Hickey Multi-sensory Literacy Program is an internationally respected program. It involves the direct teaching of phonics (the letters and sounds in words), the tasks and remember what they have learnt, as they only learn one sound or letter at a time. A key feature of the program is the use of multi-sensory learning techniques, which engage students through various senses to enhance understanding and retention.

The Hickey Multisensory Language Course has become a classic in the UK, widely used by teachers working with dyslexic learners of all ages, and has been revised and updated over time. It is highly regarded for its hands-on, practical approach to teaching reading and language skills.
Method (Combley, 2001),